TRADE RETURNS.

CHILE AND ARGENTINA.

The Chilian Government has favored us with its Report on the trade of that republic for 1884, The book before us is, like all South American Reports, a very large volume of 800 pages, bristling with comparative figures that give an accurate idea of the growth or decline of trade in the years 1883 and 1884. We regret to see that the figures of the latter year compare unfavorably with those of the former. The effects of the decline in the price-level in the world at large have been felt in Chile with great intensity, owing to the nature of her production which can only feebly compete with formidable rivals, who, under the advantages of a closer connexion with the chief centres of consumption and of cheaper labour, are driving her principal staples of export out of the market. Her export of wheat must collapse before long, and the capital and labour sunk in grain production must soon abandon that channel to seek returns in more profitable industries. There is already a violent turn in the current, since we see that the export of wheat has fallen from 123½ million kilograms in 1883 to 91½ millions in 1884. The rapid decline in the value of metals has been a heavy blow to the Chilian mining industry, and the future points to a further fall in copper and silver. Her export of grain, which in 1883 amounted to 175½ million kilograms, fell to 38 millions in 1884. In fact, the exports of 1884 show a decline of no less than 13 million dollars, compared with the figures of 1883. These economic difficulties are enhanced by the straitened circumstances of the Government, after the heavy expenditure of the war against Peru and Bolivia; and these disastrous circumstances are felt with much severity, as Chile is a poor country, and there could be no better proof of this assertion than the comparatively small importation flowing into the country. If we were to gauge the prosperity and wealth of a country by the balance of trade theory, affairs in Chile ought to be the reverse of what they are to-day, since her exports steadily exceed her imports, in our mind an excellent barometer of poverty.

Chile's great hope lies in the success of the Panama Canal, in which the entire West coast, especially Peru, is interested; but a generation will probably pass away before that great work is finished. According to Leroy-Beualieu, the Panama Canal will prove the greatest financial disaster of the century. But the completion of the Canal is yet far off; 75 o/o of the capital is already spent, and only 5 o/o of the work is done. At this rate it will take a few hundred millions sterling to complete the undertaking, and Chilian industry will have taken another turn before the waters of the Atlantic and Pacific are joined by the hand of man. Whilst Chilian production is languishing in the depression of fallen values, Argentine produce is steadily increasing in spite of low prices. Although Argentines produce more grain than Chilians, and wool and pastoral produce have fallen nearly as heavily in the last two years as metals and minerals, the producers of this country are able to bear the loss and suffer less than the Chilians, owing to a multitude of causes.

This Chilian Report affords an excellent opportunity for comparison of the trade returns of Chile and Argentina. Before referring to figures, we may state that whilst the trade returns of the Argentine Republic for the last five years show an unprecedented and extraordinary ratio of growth, those of Chile are falling back. In spite of the present crisis, Argentine exports are advancing steadily and will continue so, although the necessarily impoverished state of the country will entail a serious diminution in imports next year. In order to obviate the confusion of South American depreciated currencies, from the borders of the U. States to Cape Horn, Uruguay excepted, we shall give the figures of trade for both republics in pounds sterling. The following are the returns for 1883:—

	Imports	Exports
Argentina	16,000,000£	12,000,000£
Chile	8,550,000	11,241,000

The figures for Chile are the highest ever reached by that republic; the paucity of her imports, compared with those of the Argentine Republic, shows the immense superiority of wealth of Argentina. A glance at the figures for 1884 shows a decline in Chile and a steady growth in Argentine returns, as follows:—

Chile	8,391,000	9,183,000

The Chilian figures show a slight falling-off in imports and a heavy decline in exports: this decrease is likely to continue. The Argentine figures show a considerable advance in both imports and exports; the increase is continuing in a rapid ratio in exports, but not so in imports, which are falling off steadily and will no doubt continue declining until the country resumes specie payments, as happened in the crisis of 1877 to 1880; with this difference that both exports and imports declined then, whilst to-day exports are rising rapidly whilst imports are sinking.

Before concluding, we may remark that the Argentine Republic is the only State on this continent that imports more than it exports.

MONTEVIDEO.

(From our casual Correspondent.)

Tuesday, Dec. 15.

The political world, who unblushingly consider themselves as the best specimens of clever men in the Republic, have been overthrown by the unexpected turn of events. Even the foreseeing opposition papers have been outwitted, and only now regret the efforts and untruths wasted in persuading a credulous public that the re-election was an accomplished fact. The general stupefaction, at present disturbing both parties, attests the ability of the President. The blow is a cruel one to the independent organs. It now appears a certainty that Vidal will be elected President, but there are rivals in the field, who may combine to overthrow his candidature, despite the support of the President. The meeting held to-day has dispelled many of the doubts which clouded the political horizon and alarmed not a few of our timid citizens. The president, on the expiration of his turn of office, will not retire into private life nor cross the ocean to sunnier climes; in capacity of Senator he will represent a department yet to be made, and take upon his shoulders the reponsibility of the Presidency of the Chambers, a two-fold honor which will likewise place him in the vice-presidential chair of the Republic. Thus everything has been nicely arranged, but the security into which politicians have been lulled is dangerous and might be troubled by the advent of unforeseen events, for man often proposes.

The rumored resignation of the Minister of Finance is another bombshell. Everyone is at a loss to explain this move in high quarters, except the opposition papers who have come to the unanimous conclusion Dr Terra was not the man for the post. It is thought by many that the worthy Minister has divested himself of this honor to personally attend to the advancement of his candidature to the Presidency. Events will best show the motive of Dr Terra's resignation. In the meantime rumors are afloat that his candidature, at present feeble, would gain strength and vigor by the aid of efforts and energy or the part of the ex-Minister, who is a very popular dignitary.

The fine weather yesterday was welcomed by all, and by sportsmen and ladies in particular, in consequence of the announced races at Maroñas. The race-course was crowded, even more crowded than it would have been on a holiday, thanks to the usual interest taken in the programme by idlers, loiterers, and flaneurs, who unfortunately abound here. The ladies, of course, were delighted; they assisted at all the fun and excitement of the day, thereby lending animation to the scene; and everything passed off as merrily as a marriage-bell. Uruguayo achieved a splendid victory in the trotting race. A fine specimen of a horse he is; but his rider did not meet with an ovation, he was satisfied with his success and the acclamations that greeted him when he passed the winning post.

Montevideo has its charms; for its mildness of climate, comparative scarcity of lawyers and doctors, beauty of situation, and elegance of women, the Queen city has no rival in S. America. But it also has its inconveniences, which are, more or less, so many points of resemblance with B. Ayres; the South American Athens as some cynic has dubbed it. Nothing can be more dreary, more repugnant, and less cheering than Montevideo during rainy weather. The streets are like those of Caboul. streams of mud, in which a man, and especially a fat lady, would inevitably perish. The streets near the mole and Custom House are abominable in all weathers; and in rainy weather there is a general "sauve qui peut"; these streets are deserted. Not even an umbrella is to be seen, and the only sign of life is the funny 'vigilante,' bent almost in two, enveloped in an immense 'capote' three times too large for him, and shivering against a friendly wall. The number and characteristic untruthfulness, at least in politics, of its newspapers are other inconveniences, which we are told are unavoidable results of the vivacity of public opinion, high standard of intelligence, vast diffusion of knowledge and a thousand other brilliant qualities which all combined would not furnish a palateable excuse for the low tone of opposition in some of the papers. In fact you might read the newspapers every day and yet at the end of the year be still far from detecting the influence of any of the causes enumerated.

If some of the high standard of intelligence and vivacity of opinion could be infused into our ever-sleeping Corporation, perhaps, and even then it would be doubtful, we might arouse the worthy Aldermen from their lethargy and urge them to improve the state of many of the streets. To make Montevideo an ordinary European city, without pretension to architectural beauty, which is simply an impossibility, we should have to place two or three stories on each of its houses and widen the streets as much as practicable, so as to give more room for the mashers and flaneurs of every color, who are now simply a nuisance since the inauguration of the bathing-season.

If the fine weather continue, which is probable, bathers will pour into the city, and those who took the steamer in disgust at the rain may be persuaded to return and forgive. The Pocitos is a most favored resort, at least by the Porteños, than the Playa Ramirez, a most primitive spot fit for a poetic child but held in abhorrence by the Porteño bather. For my part I prefer the Pocitos.

I see by the papers that telegraph communication is to be established between Paysandu and San Fructuoso, some unheard-of town or village in Tacuarembo. The line is to branch off in several directions and will be known as the Central, will extend over 40 leagues by the main wire and 40 more in the branches. Paysandu is perhaps the most progressive town and seems to be the seat of industry, energy, and good will of the Republic. The mere name of Paysandu produces an electric effect on civilians as well as on military nerves.

THE PANAMA BUBBLE.

FROM "FAIRPLAY."

(Concluded.)

We have seen that the original estimate of 46,000,000 cubic metres of excavation was nearly doubled within a year, being set down by the "International Technical Commission" at 75 millions cubic metres. The second estimate has not proved much more reliable than the first. It is now admitted (p. 237.) that there are 125 millions cubic metres to be excavated, and there is no proof that the limit of increase has yet been obtained, but much to the contrary. The correspondent of the New York Herald puts it down at 150,000,000 cubic metres, which is equal to 196,040,000 cubic yards. Out of that prodigious mass, up to 1st May, 1885, 12,376,050 metres were said to have been excavated; a portion, at all events, of which will have to be removed a second time. If the remainder of the smaller total could be excavated at the prices now current it would require upwards of £29,000,000 to pay for excavation alone. And in a cutting 356 feet deep —which is the depth of the Culebra section— no one familiar with public works can doubt that the bottom of the cutting would cost six or seven times as much per cubic metre as the top. In this sum, moreover, no allowance is made for the key to the whole work—the dam for restraining the floods of the Chagres. This enormous mole is to hold 26,000,000 cubic metres of earth and rock, or the contents of about one kilometre of the Culebra cutting. That it could, by any exertion and at any cost, be completed in seven years, few engineers would venture to say. But during the whole course of its construction it will be exposed to damage from the floods of the Chagres, which have been known to rise forty feet in height. And until the floods of the numerous rivers that cross the line of the Canal in the twenty-two miles between Matachin and the sea are provided for by dams, lateral canals, and overflow weirs, any work that may be done in forming the main channel for that distance will be liable to total destruction from the floods, produced by a rainfall of 120 inches in the year over an area of 1,400 square miles of country.

On these facts, taken from the official publications of the Canal Company, any reader familiar with common arithmetic will be able to fix at least as accurate a date for the opening of the Canal as that of the term of four years, to which M. de Lesseps still adheres. During the whole year 1884, when the works were—or were to have been—in full swing, the quantity of excavation partially effected was 7,400,000 cubic metres. At this rate of progress, without making any allowance for the increase in the difficulty of the work which must constantly go on, it would take fifteen years to complete the cuttings; and that exclusive of the delays that may be needed in order to meet the difficulties arising from floods.

Mr. Rodrigues, to whose work entitled "The Panama Canal," published by Messrs. Low, Marston and Co., we call serious and respectful attention, is thus far under the mark in estimating (as he does on page 169) the gross total cost of the Canal, exclusive of contingencies, at £107,800,000. For he has calculated on the basis of the completion of the work in nine and three-quarter years, and thus arrives at a sum of £29,000,000 for interest and amortisation. If the nine and three-quarter years be extended to fifteen, this 29 millions will become 45 millions and by that one item alone the estimate will be raised to £124,000,000, or £2,750,000 per mile. Can any human being look another in the face and pretend to believe that a canal, even if it carried all the commerce of the world, could pay if constructed at such a fabulous cost?

Mr. Rodrigues, indeed, goes a little into this part of the question on page 171, where he shows that if constructed for £108,000,000, the Canal would require an annual income of £140,000 per mile to pay expenses, including interest and amortisation. This is between five and six times as much per mile as has ever been received on the Suez Canal for the transit of seven million tons of shipping. It would require the passage of 35½ million tons of shipping, at Suez prices, to raise the money. But Mr. Nimmo, the chief of the bureau of statistics at Washington, who has drawn up an exhaustive statement of the tonnage that would be likely to pass through the Canal if constructed, arrives at a figure of 2,938,399 tons as the maximum tonnage which could have passed through the Canal, if it had been open in 1879; and is of opinion that only 45 per cent. of that tonnage would have been at all likely to prefer that route. As to the larger figure, it must be remembered that the Suez Canal had to be widened in order to carry 7,000,000 tons of shipping without intolerable delay.

These figures speak more eloquently than any language that we can allow ourselves to use. They are not our own. They can hardly be called those of Mr. Rodrigues. They are essentially those of M. de Lesseps, although that gentleman does not appear to have regarded it as his affair to marshal them in order, and to present them side by side. The estimate of 120 millions cubic metres is that of M. de Lesseps; the prices cited are taken from his reports. The work done is stated by him. Mr. Rodrigues, we repeat, is so far from exaggerating his figures that he may almost be said to under-rate the prodigious account against the projectors and manipulators of a scheme which the Economiste Français predicts will be "the most terrible financial disaster of the nineteenth century." Disaster is a mild term.

What, then, of the £40,000 per mile? What of the £1,800,000 pocketed out of the first instalments of the trusting French shareholders—the 16,000 women, the 80,000 subscribers under £100 in their investments—for "preliminary expenses," "propagand," payment to concessionnaires, and "Comité Americain?" What of the administrative expenses of from £248,000 to £320,000 a year? What of the £20,000 a year to the resident director? And of the enormous discount at which the debentures have been issued? These items will be sharply totted up, and that before very long, by thousands of angry and injured men and women. It is not for us to say that it has been for the sake of these disproportionate private gains that £22,000,000 has already been coaxed from the French peasantry. But we fail, as yet, to see any other motive for the inception and the manipulation of a scheme of which the arithmetic is so wholly without example. It is one thing to be foolishly sanguine, it is another to make statements that are opposed to known facts.

The Times of Nov. 2nd announces than M. de Lesseps has made a third call on the original shares of the Panama Company. This is an item of his account with his shareholders. If paid, it represents £2,950,000. He also proposes a lottery loan for £24 millions. This would require the sanction of the Government, which would almost commit them to the loanholders. If met, it would produce another £24 millions of nominal capital, raising the total to £57,597,700. And not 5 per cent. of the work is done, not a single yard of the canal is complete. It would seem that there is an uneasy presentiment that the end is near, or this duplication of the original estimate would hardly be asked for in a breath. If the money is raised, it will only be so much more thrown into the maelstrom. But even this comes to a capital cost of £1,280,000 a mile, or more than six times the cost per mile of the Suez Canal. M. de Lesseps says that as the installation is now complete, the work may be regarded as done. It is, indeed, probable that no very large amount will hereafter be executed. But as to the materials, Lieutenant Winslow reports that out of 40 dredging machines that would be required for the rate of progress promised by M. de Lesseps, two only were at work last February, and out of 127 excavators only 42. During November, 1884, out of not more than 7,000 people employed, this officer says there were more than 260 deaths. In the elements of cost of human life the Paname Railway has hitherto been unrivalled. It is, however, likely to be distanced by the Canal.

The Gironde's Mails.

London, Thursday, Nov. 19th.

A Supplement to the Gazette was published last night containing the Royal Proclamation for dissolving Parliament and for the issue of writs for calling a new Parliament. The writs are to be returnable on Tuesday, the 12th of January next. The Supplement further contains a Proclamation commanding the Peers of Scotland to assemble at Holyrood House, Edinburgh, on the 10th of December, to choose the sixteen representative Peers for Scotland.

The Supplement to the Gazette also contains a notice dissolving the Convocations of Canterbury and York, and ordering writs to be issued for electing new members. The writs are to be returnable on Wednesday, the 13th of January next.

In the engagement at the Dragoman defile on Sunday, the Bulgarians fought, our Correspondent says, under great disadvantages. Neither Prince Alexander nor his chief of staff, notwithstanding all the haste they made, were able to join the troops engaged, who without a commanding officer had to meet the shock of 40,000 Servians commanded by General Horvatovich. The Bulgarian soldiers were thus sustained merely by their own courage, and resisted with incredible tenacity, not yielding an inch until nightfall. At that time the position had not been taken, but it was abandoned the next morning.

An official telegram from Belgrade states that the Servian troops occupied Bresnik on Tuesday. The Bulgarians lost eight guns. "Their Widdin army," the telegram adds, "may be considered as completely destroyed and dispersed."

A telegram from Vranja states that the Bulgarians have been driven from their positions at Izvorn and Radomir. The Servians carried eighteen entrenchments and made 161 prisoners.

A telegram from Belgrade states that Zia Bey, the Turkish Minister, has handed to M. Garaschanin a formal protest from the Porte to the Servian Government against its action in making war on Bulgaria.

Mr. Bright last night addressed two crowded meetings of the electors of Central Birmingham. In the course of his remarks he acknowledged the difficulty of dealing with Parliamentary procedure. He was in favour of county government, a question which could only be dealt with properly by the Liberals; and thought that the land question could be dealt with much more easily now than ten or twenty years ago. Mr. Bright also referred to the extravagant expenditure on our military and naval services as one of the great causes of depression and distress.

Mr. Chamberlain, speaking last night at Birmingham, condemned the diversion of charitable endowments for the benefit of the middle and upper classes as robbery of the poor, and contended that local charities should be locally administered. Referring to the depression in trade, he ridiculed the idea of a Royal Commission, consisting chiefly of Protectionists and crotchet-mongers finding a remedy. He spoke in favour of trades unionism and also advocated shorter hours for shopkeepers' assistants.

Speaking in support of his candidature at Derby last night, Sir Wm. Harcourt reiterated his belief that free education would be a good thing for the country, and would no more degrade and pauperise the people than the acceptance of a scholarship at the University.

The Earl of Iddesleigh, in the course of a speech at Exeter yesterday, summarised the work already completed by the Commission on the Depression of Trade, and maintained that the work of the Commission would be of the greatest value to the whole of the country.

On the third day of the Derby Race meeting, Mr. R. C. Naylor's Fast and Loose won the Derby Cup; Mr. A. Brisco's Gannet the Chadesden Cup; Mr. H. Hungerford's Preferment, the Belper Handicap Hurdle Race; Andrassy, the Osmaston Nursery Handicap; Granville, the Elwaston Castle Selling Plate; Loch Leven, the Highfield Selling Plate; and Beaver, the Spondon Plate.

Timothy Casey was yesterday committed for trial for the wilful murder of Mr. John O'Connell Curtin, at Castle Farm, county Kerry, on the 13th inst. Sullivan and Spring, the other prisoners, were remanded.

In the Chancery Division yesterday, Vice-Chancellor Bacon, in an action of Groves v. Loomes, refused to rescind a contract for the purchase of Brockley Hill House, Little Stanmore. The application was made on the ground that a convalescent fever hospital has been opened in an adjoining house. The Judge held that the plaintiff knew that the fever hospital might be established.

The stock markets again showed firmness yesterday. Consols were better at 100¼, and home railways advanced. Foreign Government stocks and Grand Trunk issues were very firm, and American railways improved, especially Denver and Wabash issues. Mexican railway stocks were steady and better. At the Bank £50,000 in sovereigns was withdrawn for Egypt.

THE BURMESE WAR.

The following telegram has been received at the Indian Office from the Viceroy:—

"November 18th. Prendergast telegraphs 17th. I attacked Minhla on the right bank, and Gue Gyoung Kamyo Fort on the left bank to-day simultaneously and successfully. Lieutenant Drury, 11th Bengal, and three men killed; Lieutenant Wilkinson, 12th Madras, dangerously wounded; Lieutenant Sillery, 12th Madras, seriously wounded; Major MacNeill, Staff, slightly; Lieutenant Young, 12th Madras, slightly. Twenty-four men wounded."

Thayetmyo, Wednesday Morning.—The Burmese positions at Minhla have been captured after an obstinate resistance. The attacking force consisted of the Liverpool Regiment, the 2nd and 11th Bengal Regiments, and the 12th Madras Regiment. The fight lasted some time, the place being carried by storm after a heavy cannonade.

Our forces behaved with the greatest gallantry, the native regiments doing their part nobly.

Rangoon, November 18th—Prior to the capture of Minhla, Major-General Norman advanced six miles up the left bank of the Irrawaddy and occupied Sengboung-Weh, after firing two shells. Major-General Prendergast, operating on the right bank, shelled the Kuligon Fort, which was attacked in the rear and taken. The guns defending it were spiked.

Thayetmyo, November 18, 7.30 a.m.—On the river below Minhla the Burmese abandoned the fort opposite Sengboung-Weh to-day without fighting. We landed a party, who spiked the guns on the west bank, and also burned a stockade in a village on the east bank. The Welsh Fusiliers met with no resistance. The telegraph was found working to Mandalay.

GERMANY AND SPAIN, THE POPE'S DECISION.

The Spanish Government has received the Papal Note upon the Caroline Islands dispute, which both Germany and Spain agreed to refer to the Pope for settlement. The correspondent of the Standard says it is skilfully worded so as to respect the historic pretensions of Spain, while not offending the modern German theory that rights to a territory are founded only on priority of occupation.. Leo XIII., as mediator, recommends Spain and Germany now to renew their direct negotiations with each other, on the understanding that Germany ought to recognise the sovereign rights of Spain over the Pelew and Caroline Archipelagoes, and accept in return the liberty of trade, of navigation and of colonisation, together with the grant of coaling and naval stations, which were offered by the Spanish Note of November 10. The correspondent also understands that both Governments were consulted and had agreed to the tenor of the Papal award. The conciliatory attitude of Germany during the latter part of the mediation negotiations is chiefly attributed to the kind interposition of the Emperor and the Crown Prince, who, throughout the Carolines affair, endeavored to pave the way for extricating King Alfonso from the domestic political embarrassments created by this incident, which is now on the eve of a satisfactory settlement.

All hopes of settling the dispute between the Cork Steam Packet Csmpany and the Cattle Trade Association are now abandoned. The Steam Packet Company have been losing £2,000 a month since the boycotting commenced. A belief prevails that after Christmas, when the busy cattle season terminates, the boycotting will be discontinued. Meanwhile, the Cattle Trade Association are providing elaborate storage accommodation for general merchandise, and are evidently determined on continuing the struggle. Yesterday their two steamers left with 1,800 beasts for Bristol.

In retaliation for the arrest at Limerick of a civilian on Saturday night, charged with assaulting two Riflemen, a corporal of the Army Service Corps was stabbed late on Monday night, in High-street, by some roughs who lay in wait for the purpose. In view of the departure of the 1st Battalion King's Royal Rifles from Limerick for Kinsale to-day, all the men of the regiment were last week confined to barracks after dusk. Extra forces of police were brought into the city during the day, and armed guards were posted in the various thoroughfares. Military pickets patrolled the approaches to the barracks, and the precautions taken prevented any possible breach of the peace. The magistrates yesterday decided that as the Rifles were leaving there would be no necessity to apply for an extra police force as originally intended.

THE WAR IN THE BALKANS.

Sophia, Nov. 18—An important engagement has been fought at Slivnitza. The Bulgarian troops, under the command of Prince Alexander, attacked and carried by assault the Servian positions at Gornimalo and Dolnimalo, by which the safety of Slivnitza was threatened. Another such victory will force the Servians to retire from the Drangoman Pass. Prince Alexander himself displayed the greatest bravery throughout the engagement.

The Press Association states that an official telegram has been received in London from Bulgarian sources in which it is stated that, after most severe fighting in the vicinity of Slivnitza, between Prince Alexander's force and Servian advanced troops, Prince Alexander forced the Servians upon the right of their advance to retire, after heavy losses on both sides. On the left of the Servian advance severe fighting has taken place, but both sides hold their positions.

THE PORTE'S REPLY TO PRINCE ALEXANDER.

A Constantinople telegram announces that the reply of the Porte to Prince Alexander's request for assistance against Servia was despatched yesterday evening. It states that the responsibility for the war falls upon the promoters of the insurrection in Eastern Roumelia, and declares that if Prince Alexander will retire from that province and re-establish the "status quo ante" the Porte will take the Prince's request into consideration. In answer to the Servian note, the Porte expresses its satisfaction at the declaration made by the Government of Belgrade disclaiming any hostile intentions towards Turkey, and states that the Ottoman Government takes note of the declaration.

THE CONFERENCE.

The Conference, which, according to a Constantinople telegram was not able to conclude its labours at Monday's sitting, Sir Wm. White's instructions not being complete, will hold its next sitting to-morrow. It will, it is added, possibly be the last, as at Monday's meeting the Ambassadors came to an agreement on the principal points. The Vienna Correspondent of the Standard, telegraphing last night, says:—In yesterday's sitting of the Conference the representatives of Russia, Germany, Austria, and Italy were for the immediate despatch to Prince Alexander of a summons to submit. Sir Wm. White objected to this, declaring that he required further instructions; whereupon the French representative also reserved his opinion. So the matter stands over until Thursday's sitting. England is consequently again accused here of obstructing the work of the Conference.

THE CITY IMPROVEMENTS.

December, 10th.

To the Editor of the STANDARD.

Dear Sir,

In yours of November 11th 1885, to hand this 24th of November, I notice a few observations in connection with the dangerous state of your sewers in Buenos Ayres.

Mr Editor, you must be not up to STANDARD power and consequently a 'gringo' in the matter of Sanitary Reform. If you, as Editor, care to render unto Cæsar the things that are Cæsar's, I am willing to enlighten you upon the subject. You, no doubt, remember the discussions in your and other columns years ago in reference to the "Mentor" sumpts. You know, Mr Editor, your correspondent personally having written down all these facts years ago that you now bring forward, and in which I defied the engineers to proceed and conclude in a satisfactory manner.

Sanitary matters have been my study for years, and I knew the blunder that was about to be handed down to posterity for the great city of Buenos Aires, South America.

I handled the subject in the River Plate Times and other papers some years ago and I had several opponents who all retired under my fire, and I am prepared so show that to carry out such a baseless scheme [illegible] upon any community; and in your own paper some 5 years ago, I told you. This fact is now become patent to all, because the excess of the filled sewer is now running at every rainfall into Rio de la Plata in front of your dear and dirty Buenos Ayres, and beyond doubt the sewers of the city contain 2,000,000 cubic metres of stagnant filthy water; having no outlet this precipitates on to the bottom of the sewer (which is too small for a man to work in) and this will refuse to be moved any other way than by main force of bucket and shovel. Now Mr Editor how are men to remove this? There's the rub, and the complementary works you speak of are in Yankee phrase—all bosh. Years ago I told the public the main sewer would be 13 feet below the Riachuelo. It is now more than 14 feet, and you say it will not be prolonged until the syphon under the Riachuelo is completed; far better and with more power have written—all bosh. I beg to say Mr Editor, this is not a syphon but an inverted tube that will require another 500 horse-power engine, boilers, engine house, and engineers to lift this precious stuff, the odors of which will improve the locality and the Riachuelo.

I conclude with this at present,

Yours,

Mentor.

EDITOR'S TABLE.

The Gironde's mails were delivered yesterday. The home papers seem very doubtful as to the upshot of the Servian-Bulgarian question. Many long-headed men here say that the proposal in the French Chambers to abandon Tonkin is based on the firm conviction that a tremendous struggle is at hand in Europe; and that the stated intention of the French Cabinet to oppose evacuation is pure clap-trap, to assuage the national vanity. Nothing more probable.

Servians and Bulgarians have recommenced to murder each other. Several people are beginning to think that the final general scrimmage about Turkey will begin in the Spring. Not a bit of it.

Bank of England rate up. This is only the usual turn of the screw to meet the momentary demand for money to enable a good show to be made at the close of the year in the way of balances.

The marriage of Mr. Solar, of the Chilian Legation in Paris, and the opulent Miss Dorrego, of Buenos Ayres, was the great topic in Argentine circles in the French capital when the mail left. The bridegroom is 28 and the bride 18 years of age. Just a nice difference.

We beg to thank our estimable colleague Censor for the two leading columns it devotes to a censorious notice on the STANDARD. We stagger under a deep sense of obligation for its compliment, which is of the matrimonial kind, much that is sweet with much more that is bitter; but we are sadly afraid that we shall be obliged to forego its encomium and censure, as both are lavished on an article supposed to have been published by the STANDARD, but which, to our knowledge, never appeared in these columns. Thus, all Censor's arguments fall to the ground; and, much as we admire its good intentions, we are forced to admit that it is striking at vagaries that never found refuge in the STANDARD.

Mr. Andrée, the talented Head of the Santa Catalina Farm, has published a series of articles in the Prensa on the condition of linseed, on its diseases, parasites and future. We recommend the articles to farmers, as they are penned by the best authority in the country, so far as agricultural matters are concerned.

If any subscriber cares to see the latest paper from Costa Rica he has only to call on us.

The proprietor of the Olympic Theatre in Rosario makes the volunteer Bomberos pay for their seats and 'entradas" every night they attend to watch over the safety of his theatre and his audience. This is most niggardly policy.

Yesterday was a nice day, and yet it was "hot, devilish hot, Sir. We are only three days off the longest day now.

A grand banquet is given this evening at the Cafe de Paris to Dr Galvez, Minister of Government of Santa Fe, and candidate for the next Governorship of that province. It will be one of the most sumptuous affairs of this season of grand banquets.

The police made a raid on the milkmen at North Barracas yesterday, and "hauled" them all to the Comisaria, to see if they had their "patentes." All our subscribers down there had to wait three hours for milk for their matutinal porridge, or eat it dry.

We'll go into deep mourning. The mole at San Nicolas has gone to the bottom. Our old favourite steamer the Proveedor missed going with it by ten minutes. A miss is as good as a mile. Who built the mole?

Dewey and Co. were first in the field yesterday with the latest papers from Europe by the Girond, and the Christmas numbers of the illustrated papers, which are the most gorgeous that have yet appeared. Dewey has only a limited number, so early applications can alone secure them.

On the 21st inst, Monday next, there will a grand public funeral service held in the church of Tucuman for the late Dr. Avellaneda. The occasion is looked on as the most solemn the city has ever celebrated.

The recent rains washed away 200 metres of the Western Railway line near Mercedes. The town of Lujan was also flooded up to the Plaza, but no damage was done.

They have had [illegible] too much rain in Santa Fe [illegible] province, and the farmers look very glum. It is also insufferably [illegible] the Police Commissary to [illegible] Mr [illegible] bobby [illegible]

The Independiente of Rosario announces that the sugar mills of Tucuman have all stopped working, and that the total yield is only 1,250,000 arrobes instead of the 2,000,000 expected. The long spell of damp weather affected the cane, and hence the falling off.

The Consejo D. failed to come to the point again on Wednesday night. No quorum. Weather too close.

The syphon under the Riachuelo for the Drainage Works will be 70 metres long instead of 40, as at first planned.

The death is announced of Herr Wilhelm Waller, Professor of chemistry in the National College of Rioja. He accidentally blew his face off while out shooting, and his corpse was found under a tree. Only a year ago he married Miss Luna, a distinguished Rioja lady.

Professor Ameghino has accepted the command of the exploring expedition the Geographical Society intend to send to Patagonia next September.

The police pounced yesterday on an artist in the rogue line who devoted himself exclusively to robbing jewellers. He was caught while trying to change brass rings for gold in a "joyeria" in Calle Bolivar. He is an old hand, and the police found stolen jewellery to a large amount in his trunk. While his room was being searched he tried the Bosco experiment of letting a big diamond ring drop down his sleeve, but the detective saw him.

The owner of the Masonic jeweller's shop in Calle Victoria, nearly opposite the Foreign Club, put his foot in it on Tuesday by falsely accusing two "distinguidos jovenes" from Salta of having changed a false for a real diamond ring while giving an order in his shop. They are going to take an action for libel against the man of rings, pins, and bracelets.

The abolition of the Lotteries in this city will only fall on the hospitals, as all the private Lottery empresarios have resolved to continue the game in the Village of the Plain. As to selling the tickets in this city, there will be no more difficulty than there was before when the Lottery was abolished by the Provincial Government. The Caridad Lottery of Montevideo will gain enormously by the change.

The news of the day yesterday was the concession given to Mr. Clerici to make a railway from Tres Arroyos to Bahia Blanca. We hope some clerical error in the contract won't knock this Clerici scheme on the head, as happened to Honore and Bowen's, the best of the whole lot.

Another tremendous fire took place yesterday at 1 a.m. in the wine (home made) deposits of Mr Cordero, in Calle Caseros. The deposit was a zinc-covered shed, and it was all burned to a cinder. Mr Stevenson, who lives alongside, got his family to a place of safety and then lent most valuable aid to fight the flames till the Bomberos came. Loss 80,000 nats. Not insured. Nobody hurt.

"Doña Juanita" at the Variedades is a thundering success. House full to the ceiling. La Moretti is better than Preziosi in the character, and Monteverde is tip-top. The rest are all tip-bottom; but the two principal singers carry the piece triumphantly through, in spite of this drawback.

The Italian Exhibition at the Recoleta wont open until the middle of January. Up to the present 612 exhibitors have applied for space.

There is a duel now almost every second day. The latest is one in Rosario on Wednesday between a Baron and a doctor, the latter getting the worst of it—a blow on his punch arm—and the farce stopped.

Good news. Some of the flax that is not very ripe is recovering, and the losses will not be so enormous as first expected. About Giles and Chacabuco this change is most remarked. One farmer, Mr. Abadie, had commenced to destroy what he considered a lost crop, but paused, and will now have fully enough to cover his expenses.

The Industrial Club has named a Special Committee to report on Mr. Walters's discovery of perpetual motion. This is a 'cheek' indeed; considering that the French Academy declared half a century ago that any man claiming to have discovered perpetual motion should be locked up as a madman.

Captain Voyer gives another grand piano concert to-night in the Florida Gardens.

Don Domingo Friss has lost two splendid imported bulls from 'grano malo.' The disease is spreading in several provinces, yet no estanciero has the common sense to try Pasteur's great remedy.

It's a crying reproach to the War Office to see the troops of the garrison in winter clothes and heavy marching order when going to relieve guard. The poor fellows appear to suffer fearfully, all the more, as too many of the young officers commanding guards seem to have an ineradicable fancy for the quick step when marching to and from barracks.

The Santiago del Estero papers report the death, from a sudden stroke of apoplexy, of the Rev. Father Gorostiaga, parish priest of the Matriz there. He was a virtuous, good man, and greatly esteemed. The only other news in the sheet we have before us is vulgar abuse of the 'gringos.'

The Capital of Rosario publishes a startling accusation against a well-known Comandante up there, for trying to make his soldiers sell their claims to land for the Rio Negro campaign at twelve Nats the lot! The poor soldiers have made the matter public, and it is to be hoped that the War Office will make it hot for the offender.

Extraordinary preparations are making in Rosario for the Santa Casilda races. Every sporting man in the province of Santa Fe, and lots from other provinces, will be present.

We read most depressing news from Rosario. The Municipality is in "acefalia," or in plain English burst-up, owing to the resignation of the Mayor; and, to make matters worse, the new water pl[illegible] Jewelry [illegible]as pipes are ways on hand on together.

Important Notice.

I hereby advise the public that I have established a Gymnasium Institute at Calle Florida 406, where I also apply the MASSAGE SYSTEM as studied and practiced at Dr. KELLGREN'S well known institute in London.

This system has given the most surprising results in curing chest and lung complaints, and all maladies caused by the kidneys and joints, and in any way connected with the nervous system. Thus the celebrated SYSTEM of MASSAGE is recommended as a certain cure for rheumatism, asthma, undeveloped muscles, paralysis, disorders in the digestion and in the circulation of the blood, etc., etc.

I have also a special class for the development of the body and muscles.

The following is the time-table I have arranged for the application of the Massage System:

For Gentlemen 8 a.m. to 10 a.m. and 3 p.m. to 5 p.m.

For Ladies 12½ to 2 p.m.

Consultation hours—11.30 a.m. to 12.30.

Patients can also make arrangements for the application of the Massage System at their own residences.

ON 'CHANGE

Gold	141.50
Cedulas F	76½
Cedulas G	82½

The first news on 'Change to-day was the rise in the Bank of England rate of 1 o/o, and there are telegrams in town which state that the advance in the Bank rate is owing to the heavy withdrawal of gold from the Bank for the River Plate. Many Argentine brokers laugh at this and say that it is impossible the gold shipped to the R. Plate could affect the London market so, but we think they are mistaken, and that the shipment of one million sterling in a month to the R. Plate is just the very thing to make the Bank Board advance its rate.

The gold market was somewhat influenced by the news from London; gold opened at 141, and at once marched up to 141.50; cash 56,840 sold. For Dec. 18th 10,000 sold at 141. For end of month 225,000 sold, opening at 141 and closing at 141.20. For Jan. 31st 255,000 opening at 141 and closing at 141.50 Total sales 607,840.

In Cedulas there was a great and violent drop in Series F, only 26,000 sold, and yet prices ran down to 76½, and had there been a larger amount offered prices would have gone lower, as the tightness in the money market is beginning to tell on Cedulas. Series G has dropped to 82 for the end of the month Series A offered and no buyers.

Discount brokers report one of the private banks discounting yesterday a trifle at 9 per cent., but business in exports, in saladeros, etc, is so brisk that money is found to be very tight in certain circles; and as the National Government has just signed bills for large amounts for the guarantees on the railways, these are offering in the market at high rates and absorb a great deal of money.

The French mails were delivered early to-day, and in a letter we received from Antwerp we learn that the articles which appeared in this paper on the Gomensoro expedition to the Gran Chaco, have attracted much notice and are reproduced in the papers. It is rather remarkable how such a distant country as the Gran Chaco should attract notice in Belgium.

Mr Davidson, estanciero of Venado Tuerto, was welcomed on 'Change; he reports camps, and sheep, and cattle in splendid condition and everything doing well up there.

Advices from Mercedes, Buenos Ayres, are somewhat more favorable than expected, about the lino crop. It seems that some fields that were thought to be all lost are coming round after the recent rains and looking most promising.

The following is a summary of operations effected this morning at the ring during official hours:—

Gold—
For cash 56,840 at 141-141.50
For Dec. 18th 10,000 at 141
For Dec. 31st 225,000 at 141-141.20
For Jan. 31st 255,000 at 141-141.50
Sales, 609,840
Cedulas—
For cash F 26,000 at 77-76½
For cash G 39,400 at 82½-⅝
For Dec. 31st G 30,000 at 82
Sales, 95,400

Most of the wools coming to town now for account of 'acopiadores,' leave a heavy loss, and the business has proved a very bad one, owing to the downward turn in the gold market; had gold kept at 150 or over, all the 'acopiadores' would have come out all right.

The fall in some descriptions of city property, owing to the tightness of money, is announced, and various auctions of properties out by Calle Callao, Bella Vista etc have amounted to nothing. Even small houses in the back streets that were so saleable are to-day difficult of sale.

We had a visit to-day from Mr Shine, who has returned in the s.s. Hevelius. He has done perhaps what no other countryman in the Plate ever did, namely, he took home from the Plate some alfalfa seed, took up 200 acres of Limerick land, and sowed it, and got a magnificent crop, which the farmers so much admired that they sent over to London for more alfalfa seed, but the London seed was not so good as the Buenos Ayrean, and it seems that the Irish farmers, who purpose growing alfalfa in Ireland, must get their seed from the Plate, Mr Murphy, of the Curragh of Kildare, has also arrived out with Mr Shine, and purposes settling in this country.

Mr Nevares, the well-known city auctioneer, has been named by the Judge to sell the remaining house property of the late Mr Terence Moore.

A large contract for 20,000 novillos for the saladeros in this province is spoken of, but the price is very reserved; we believe about 13 or 13½ nats.

People ask what about the Pacific Railway and the opening of the sections to Picassa. We understand the Commission of Engineers has sent in its report to the Government, and that so far as the contractors are concerned, the line might be opened to the public to-morrow. Mr. Edward Madero and Dr. Lucas Gonzalez, who are on the Local Board in this city, should certainly be interviewed on this subject, as the whole country out there is anxiously awaiting the opening of the line to Picassa.

The gold market at afterhours ruled very hard and rose to 41.80, but it fell off 20 cents at five o'clock. Not much done, and prices closed so:

Sellers for to-morrow, 141.70
" month, 141.60
" January, 141.50.

Cedulas Series G gave way again at afterhours. Sales—
For to-morrow, 5000 at 81
" cash, 1200 at 81
" end of month, 10,000 at 81

Exchange closed for the mail with all the drawing houses cleaned out and no bills left. A leading Argentine broker took a large amount, it is supposed for one of the banks.

The Provincial Bank has at last begun drawing at the same rate as the National Bank, 3.52.

Only four tenders were presented to the Municipality for the residue of the city basura, the highest amount offered being $1,586 m/n per month. This sum appears very small indeed, and we believe that if the Municipality worked the business itself it would do much better. The four bids were signed by Italians.

The demand for 'chacras' and 'quintas' in Carmen de Areco at present could not be brisker, and this without a doubt is due to the railway which now seems at last a reality after 50 weary years of waiting. Title deeds to 16 chacras and 10 quintas have already been made out, the price being 1,000 paper dollars per square for the former, and 127 m/n for the latter. The chacras is composed of 32 squares.

The house Calle Buenos Ayres No. 93, in Flores, containing 9 rooms, has been bought by Mr M R Islas for 8,450 m/n. The ground measures 44 yards front by 40 deep. We imagine this price is stiff enough, but property is rapidly increasing in value in all parts, both city and suburbs, and parties with a little spare cash, who before put it into cows and sheep find it a safer investment now to sink it in real estate.

El Nacional of last evening publishes a very interesting description of the famous Tatay estancia. Amongst other details it states that during the shearing 250 men were employed, the clip amounting to 14,000 @, which gave to the enterprising proprietor the handsome sum of $50,000. To this amount must be added from 20 to 25,000 m/n for the sale of capons during the year. The consumption of capons on the estancia, not including the shearing season, is over 9,000 per year. Mr S Spring, the courteous manager, has always a warm welcome ready for visitors, and the order and punctuality which meet the stranger's eye on all sides speak highly of the ability of this gentleman, and well may he be proud of it.

We have received by the French mail a letter from Mr Paul Krell of the Central Argentine Railway, which owing to press of copy we are compelled to hold over for a day or two.

The Board of the Southern Railway has passed to the Department of National Engineers a memorandum of the traffic of the month of October last, the total receipts amounted to 387,801, and the expenses to 245,564, which leaves a net earning for that month of 157,836 m/n, which when we compare with the previous month of September shows a most wondrous growth of business. The September receipts were 339,905, expenses 252,790. Net earning for September 97,115 nacionales. The following are the details of the traffic earnings in the month of October:—

Passengers	85,017
Parcells	17,497
Freight and animals	263,295
Telegrams	9,243
Sundries	12,447
	389,501

The Provincial Government has published a decree fixing the price of Bahia Blanca "solares" as follows:—
1st Series at 100 m/n
2nd " 70
3rd " 40

The Municipality is ordered to call an auction and sell these solares on the foregoing basis, reserving a number of squares for plazas churches, schools, workshops, &c. The great Bahia Blanca land fever has long since died out, and we consider the Government valuation as high, however it is possible that the people down there will buy them, as the business is too small and needs too much letter writing for people up here.

In a letter to a friend of his residing in Montevideo, Don Saturnino Ribes clearly states no alteration will be made in the tariffs, either for passengers or cargo, of the Mensageries Fluviales.

The U. States gunboat Bear has arrived at the Mount; she will come up to B. Ayres in a day or two.

According to latest maritimo intelligence the British four-master Bendouran collided with another vessel in a high sea on the 30th Nov. No personal accidents are recorded. The Bendouran arrived at Pernambuco on the 4th instant and was immediately docked for repairs. She was bound from San Francisco to Falmouth with a full cargo of wheat. The other vessel, of the same flag, was the Magician, whose crew took to the boats and succeeded after terrible sufferings from hunger and thirst in reaching "terra firma".

The corvette Nitheroy is at anchor off Montevideo; she purposes, we believe, stopping some time in River Plate waters.

A meeting was held yesterday at the Contaduria Municipal to consider the proposals for the extraction of useful offal in the 'basura' yards for the incoming year. The meeting dispersed after a lengthy discussion which resulted in nothing beyond a traditional "canje de ideas."

In virtue of a note from the War Office, despatched yesterday, Captain Manuel Garcia will leave shortly to examine the obstruction at the mouth of the Riachuelo in Concepcion del Uruguay. The obstruction, we hear, is the hull of a sunken vessel, which has been, for some time now, a great danger for navigators. Captain Garcia, who is one of the most intelligent officers of the Torpedo Department, will doubtless soon remove this formidable obstruction.

We have received very unsatisfactory advices from the sugar plantations of Tucuman. Work is paralyzed, the mills being stopped, and the sugar crop this year, so far from realising the estimated yield of two millions arrobas, will barely reach the figures of $1,200,000. The sugar cane appears to have degenerated, in consequence of the prevailing humidity of the atmosphere. The rains, however, which began early this season, are taken as a good sign and will retrieve in some manner the losses occasioned by the degeneration of the cane.

The Hereford bulls, to which we referred in a previous issue, were sold yesterday at Bullrich's auction mart. They fetched 500, 700 and 350 m/n respectively. Several Lincoln rams, recently imported, were also sold at 120 m/n each.

MANY YOUNG PERSONS FROM 16 to 20 years of age, are greatly annoyed with roughness of the face, the skin being covered with unsightly pimples, blotches, discolorations, and flesh worms. To all such we advise the use of Bristol's Sarsaparilla and Pills, which, if persevered in, will so throughly cleanse and purify the humors of the system that the skin will become smooth, soft, and beautiful.
